LC Candidates Talk With Financial Experts

The 2016 Leadership Cayman class received an in-depth and informed perspective of the financial services industry last week from four of the industry's top experts including Hon. Wayne Panton, MLA, Minister of Financial Services, Commerce and Environment; Cindy Scotland, Managing Director, Cayman Islands Monetary Authority; Mr. Anthony Travers, OBE, Senior Partner, Travers Thorp Alberga and Mr. Jude Scott, CEO, Cayman Finance. Each panelist shared their views about the issues, challenges and opportunities facing the industry and responded to participants' questions during a series of breakout sessions. Deloitte sponsored the seminar and was held at their corporate headquarters in One Capital Place. Seminar organisers Leyla Jackson and Ross Tibbetts thanked the speakers for sharing their knowledge, candid views and specific information about the industry. "This year's class was delighted to have some of Cayman's top leaders in the financial services industry participate in the seminar. Each speaker provided a unique perspective based on their political, public service and private sector experiences. The financial services industry is a main pillar of our economy and the speakers were open and frank about what is needed to maintain and grow this sector. We want to specifically thank the Hon. Wayne Panton for agreeing to participate," said Ms. Jackson. Launched in 2009 by the Cayman Islands Chamber of Commerce, Leadership Cayman is a dynamic, intensive, interactive, six month experienced designed to promote and enhance community leadership through an in-depth information to social, economic, business and political issues in the Cayman Islands. Some of Cayman's top businesses support the programme including Dart Enterprises Ltd., Deloitte, Cayman First Insurance, Endless Energy, Greenlight RE, and Cayman National Corporation. If your business organisation would be interested in supporting this unique leadership programme, please contact Nicola Burke at 743-9129 or by email membership@caymanchamber.ky
